Italian mini-crane manufacturer Jekko has appointed HEWEA as its official dealer in Poland, with the agreement having taken effect on 1 November 2026.

The arrangement gives HEWEA responsibility for sales of Jekko's product range in Poland, as well as technical assistance and after-sales support.

HEWEA is based in Byków, near Wrocław, and has around 30 years of experience in commercial and specialist vehicles, hydraulic lifting equipment and vehicle-mounted systems. It is also the Polish distributor of Fassi products.

The company supports customers through regional sales representatives and a nationwide network of more than 50 authorised service centres.

The centres provide maintenance, diagnostics and after-sales assistance.

HEWEA CEO Wiesław Szoplik said: “Jekko represents a natural extension of our lifting equipment offering. Its compact and technologically advanced machines respond perfectly to the growing demand for versatile lifting solutions in Poland. We are looking forward to combining Jekko technology with HEWEA’s sales and service network.”

Under the agreement, HEWEA will represent Jekko’s SPX mini cranes, JF articulated crawler cranes, MPK minipickers, TRX truck-mounted minicranes and JCX telescopic crawler cranes.

The range covers compact lifting equipment for different operating requirements, although the companies did not provide details of specific customer projects or sales targets in Poland.

Jekko said the partnership would combine Jekko’s equipment with HEWEA’s local commercial and service infrastructure.

No financial details were disclosed.

Jekko sales director Alberto Franceschini said: “HEWEA has the technical expertise, market knowledge and nationwide organisation we were looking for. Their long experience in the lifting sector makes them an ideal partner to support Jekko customers and further develop our presence in Poland.”
